Variants of the betting card game

Stud poker is any of a number of poker variants in which each player receives 4 a mix of face-down and face-up cards dealt in multiple betting rounds. Stud games are also typically non-positional games, meaning 4 that the player who bets first on each round may change from round to round (it is usually the player 4 whose face-up cards make the best hand for the game being played). The cards dealt face down to each individual 4 player are called hole cards, which gave rise to the common English expression ace in the hole for any hidden 4 advantage.

History [edit

Stud poker variants using four cards were popular as of the American Revolutionary War. Five-card stud first 4 appeared during the American Civil War when the game was much played among soldiers on both sides, and became very 4 popular. Later, seven-card stud became more common, both in casinos and in home games.[1] These two games form the basis 4 of most modern stud poker variations.

Play [edit]

The number of betting rounds in a game influences how well the 4 game plays with different betting structures. Games with four or fewer betting rounds, such as five-card stud and Mississippi stud, 4 play well with any structure, and are especially well suited to no limit and pot limit play.

Games with more 4 betting rounds are more suited to fixed limit or spread limit. It is common (and recommended) for later betting rounds 4 to have higher limits than earlier ones. For example, a "$5/$10 Seven-card Stud" game in a Nevada casino allowsR$5 bets 4 for the first two rounds andR$10 bets for subsequent rounds. Also common is to make the final round even higher: 4 a "$5/$10/$20" game would allowR$20 bets on the last round only. Another common rule is to allow the larger bet 4 on the second round if there is an "open pair" (that is, at least one player's upcards make a pair). 4 Some casinos (typically in California) use the smaller limit on the first three rounds rather than just the first two.

It 4 is a common convention in stud poker to name the betting rounds after the number of cards each player holds 4 when that betting round begins. So the bet that occurs when each player has three cards is called "third card" 4 or "third street", while the bet that occurs when each player has five cards is "fifth street". The final round, 4 regardless of the number of betting rounds, is commonly called the "river" or simply the "end".

Specific variants [edit]

As 4 mentioned above, seven-card stud is probably the most common form of the game, with most other games being variants of 4 that, although five-card stud is also a basic pattern upon which many variations are built.

Six-card stud [edit]

Six-card stud 4 is usually played as identical to seven-card stud, except that the last face-up round is removed (thus it is two 4 down, three up, one down). With Flip, the last card is dealt face-down, but one of the face-down cards must 4 be flipped face-up. Six-card stud can also be played as 1-4-1, where the first betting round occurs after only two 4 cards are dealt (one down and one up). This latter form more closely resembles five-card stud with an extra downcard.

Razz 4 [edit]

Razz is a variant where the lowest hand wins the pot instead of the highest. Versions differ in 4 the rules for treating straights and flushes as high or low. London Lowball is a popular version that counts straights 4 against the player.

High-low stud [edit]

High-low stud is played using high-low split betting, where the pot is split between 4 the player with the highest hand and the player with the lowest hand. In the most common form, known as 4 "eight-or-better" or "stud eight", an 8-high hand or lower is required to win low. If there is no qualifying low 4 hand, high hand takes the entire pot.

Another form of high-low split stud is played under the same rules as stud 4 eight, but there is no qualifier required for the low half of the pot. Often referred to as Q, it 4 is much less common than stud eight, and is generally played at higher limits.

Mexican stud [edit]

Various forms of 4 roll your own five-card stud, often with a stripped deck and wild cards, are called Mexican stud, Mexican poker, or 4 stud loco. One such variant played by the Casino San Pablo in northern California has these rules: 8s, 9s, and 4 10s are stripped from the deck, and a single joker is added (the deck therefore contains 41 cards). The 7-spot 4 and the J become consecutive, so that 5-6-7-J-Q is a straight. A flush beats a full house (with fewer cards 4 of each suit, they are harder to get). The joker plays as a bug if it is face up, and 4 fully wild if it is face down. The game is played as five-card stud choose-before roll your own. It is 4 usually played with a very high ante, and the high card on the first round pays the bring-in.

The game of 4 Shifting sands is Mexican stud in which each player's hole card (and all others of that rank) are wild for 4 that player only.

Caribbean stud [edit]

Caribbean Stud Poker is a casino game that has been developed using the poker 4 hands and general rules of 5 card stud poker. The game combines poker elements and standard table game elements in 4 that each player dealt into the hand is playing against the dealer. Originally invented by gambling author David Sklansky using 4 the name Casino Holdem with some slight rule variations,[2] the game was first introduced at the Grand Holiday Casino and 4 eventually all the remaining hotels in Aruba in the 1980s.

Miscellaneous [edit]

The game of Show Hand , which is not commonly played but made famous by Hong Kong 4 gambling films, is a twist in 5 card stud. Players with the highest face up cards decide whether to check 4 the round or raise; or, if the player with the highest face up card or hand checks, it will proceed 4 to the next street. The game of Chicago is seven-card stud 4 in which the high hand splits the pot with the player who has the highest-ranking spade "in the hole"

There is also Little Chicago (also called Southside), in which the lowest ranking spade in the hole 4 splits the pot; players who play Little Chicago call the high spade variant Big Chicago . This also known as 4 Chicago high by night and Chicago low by night . In Chicago by night the Deuces and One-eyed jacks are 4 usually called as wild cards.

Several 4 different games played only in low-stakes home games are called Baseball , and generally involve many wild cards (often 3 4 s and 9 s), paying the pot for wild cards, being dealt an extra upcard upon receiving a 4 , 4 and many other ad hoc rules (for example, the appearance of the queen of spades is called a "rainout" and 4 ends the hand, or that either red 7 dealt face-up is a rainout, but if one player has both red 4 7s in the hole, that outranks everything, even a 5 of a kind). Draft (or "socialist poker") is usually a 4 variant of seven-card stud in which the second and subsequent upcard rounds are dealt this way: for each player remaining, 4 one upcard is dealt to the center of the table (not to any specific player). The player with the worst 4 showing hand gets to choose which of them he will take for his next upcard, then the player with the 4 second-worst showing hand chooses his upcard from those left, and so on, until the player who previously had the best 4 showing hand takes the remaining card. Then betting occurs as normal. In seven-card stud, this makes for three "draft" rounds 4 (the first three cards are dealt normally, as is the final downcard).

Auction is a similar variation in which each upcard round (or 4 possibly just those after the first) begins with an "auction" phase. Instead of dealing each player one upcard, the first 4 card is dealt to the center and all players bid on it; the player who bids the highest amount places 4 that amount into the pot, and then has the right to either keep the auction card as his own upcard, 4 or designate another player who is required to take it as his. The standard hand ranking applies with the slight difference in that a flush beats a 4 full house because it is easier to get a full house than a flush. This is because instead of 13 4 cards per suit there are only 8 having the cards from 2-6 removed.

Robinson

começa com uma largura lenta, o segundo é elevado de joelho dobrado para seis por Kimber. O terceiro ponto e dois pontos do próximo; mister bet jack seguida um único que significa Hull tem a sobreviver à bola Robinson ele devidamente faz isso 19 são necessários!

Como os comentaristas nos lembram, houve mais loucura neste dispositivo no ano passado.

Mike c Robinson b McAndrew 3b M Leics 435-9 precisa de 29 para ganhar.

Entre no jogo de 19 anos Josh Hull. Kimber 234 não está fora

Jimmy vai jogar mister bet jack Southport?

Keaton Jennings pensa assim:

"Toque mister bet jack madeira acho que Jimbo estará disponível, o Que é incrível. Ele traz uma riqueza de conhecimento e um desejo ansioso para vir jogar a competir." Será brilhante se ele estiver cem por cento pronto pra ir embora não quero apressar-me com goleiro mas seria genial tê-lo".

O que parece ser Louis Kimbe

r sempre BR um jumper. Mesmo mister bet jack dia quando, como ele tira o capacete e os poros do suor para fora... 30 necessário...

Ben Mike cutuca Robinson e é deixado cair no segundo deslizamento - eu acho que ele apareceu dentro de um pouco depois.
